HR 22010 - From Civil Rights to Human Rights: Community Organizing for Social Change (3 cr)

General

Course Title
From Civil Rights to Human Rights: Community Organizing for Social Change

Catalog Description
This course will explore how social movements in the U.S. and abroad are using human rights frameworks and mechanisms to advance their struggles for racial justice and social and economic rights, including the rights to water, land, and housing. The course will also situate contemporary activism in historic context by shedding light on the longstanding efforts of African-American activists to advance racial justice using the lexicon and moral authority of human rights, as opposed to a narrower civil rights framing.

HR 22027 - Women, Peace and Security (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Women, Peace and Security

Catalog Description
The women, peace and security (WPS) agenda has been on the UN Security Council's agenda for almost 20 years now, framing the international community's understanding of gender and rights. Based on principles that women have the right to participate in efforts to end conflict, and have the right to be protected from the violence that is part of conflict, has informed the now 10 UNSC resolutions on the topic. This course will utilize country-specific examples to examine progress on women's rights and gender equality in the context of conflict prevention and resolution, with particular attention to the existing and developing normative framework that addresses these issues.

HR 22028 - Crisis as Opportunity: Feminist reimagining of a world post- COVID-19 (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Crisis as Opportunity: Feminist reimagining of a world post- COVID-19

Catalog Description
The COVID-19 pandemic has exposed and exacerbated deep injustices and inequities across the world, including in the United States. Women and girls' rights are especially at risk. Most community and frontline care workers are female, but few have access to workplace protections, health and other services, for themselves and their families. Domestic violence has escalated, yet few survivors are able to seek the care and support they need. But in crisis there is opportunity. Returning to "normal" is both impossible and undesirable. Normal was intolerable and crushing to people and the planet. But what will emerge in its place? What will the new normal look like? The class will be global and nature, with some emphasis on work in the U.S. The course will be intergenerational and intersectional, addressing issues across the lifespan. Expert speakers will be invited, sharing practical examples of how they are leading change for women and girls' rights. Students will have the opportunity to engage in discussions with feminist activists, researchers and practitioners from a wide variety of disciplines.

HR 22030 - Anti-Black Racism and the UN (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Anti-Black Racism and the UN

Catalog Description
In December 2013, the United Nations proclaimed the years 2015 – 2024, the International Decade for People of African Descent (Decade). The Decade is one of several mechanisms at the United Nations for advancing the full range of human rights for people of African descent. More than halfway into the Decade, a disturbing few know of its existence and progress on the goals of the Decade is constrained. The purpose of this course is to explore and understand the use of the Decade, the International Convention on the Elimination of All forms of Racial Discrimination (CERD), as well as other special mandates at the United Nations, in advancing intersectional racial justice and human rights. The course will center the experiences of women, particularly African descendant women. This course is cross-listed with the Department of Africana & Puerto Rican/Latino Studies

HR 22031 - Laws of War (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Laws of War

Catalog Description
This course will address the important field historically called The Laws of War. While the course will focus principally on constraints on the conduct of war (jus in bello) inevitably we will discuss the limits societies have placed on going to war (jus ad bellum). As long as people have waged war, some have sought to civilize it, to make it more humane. The struggle continues to “save succeeding generations from the scourge of war” (as the UN Charter demands). This course will introduce students to this long, tragic history and engage them in research to develop their own insights.

HR 32006 - Anti Black Racism at the UN (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Anti Black Racism at the UN

Catalog Description
In December 2013, the United Nations proclaimed the years 2015 – 2024, the International Decade for People of African Descent (Decade). The Decade is one of several mechanisms at the United Nations for advancing the full range of human rights for people of African descent. More than halfway into the Decade, a disturbing few know about the existence of the Decade and progress on the goals of the Decade is constrained. The purpose of this course is to explore and understand the use of the Decade, the International Convention on the Elimination of All forms of Racial Discrimination (CERD), as well as other special mandates at the United Nations, in advancing intersectional racial justice and human rights. The course will center the experiences of women, particularly African descendant women.

HUM 40N02 - Mellon Public Humanities Senior Seminar 2 (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Mellon Public Humanities Senior Seminar 2

Catalog Description
Is the second semester course of the two-semester Mellon Public Humanities and Social Justice fellowship course series. In this semester, students extend the research undertaken during the first semester to a broader public. They work with a cultural organization, community group, policy or government agency, and create programming concerning their area of inquiry, typically (though not necessarily) focusing on a social justice issue. There will also be shared readings giving concrete examples of publicly engaged humanities projects, and discussions of the concept of the 'public.' Students will also have opportunities to learn from experts on production of podcasts, blogs, videos or other public venues.

HUM 15056 - Distinguished Living Writers (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Distinguished Living Writers

Catalog Description
Every semester around a half a dozen award winning poets, novelists, and non-fiction writers visit Hunter College for the Distinguished Writers Series. This course is dedicated to studying the latest work by these authors before attending the readings and meeting the them, face to face, for an in-class Q&A. In the past these authors have included Margaret Atwood, Rachel Kushner, William Finnegan, and Maggie Nelson, among many others. The readings that students must attend are typically each on five different Tuesdays or Thursdays at 7:30pm at Hunter College's 68th Street campus.

HUM 40200 - Mellon Public Humanities Senior Seminar 2 (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Mellon Public Humanities Senior Seminar 2

Catalog Description
Humanities 402 is the second semester course of the two-semester Mellon Public Humanities and Social Justice fellowship course series. In this semester, students extend the research undertaken during the first semester to a broader public. They work with a cultural organization, community group, policy or government agency, and create programming concerning their area of inquiry, typically (though not necessarily) focusing on a social justice issue. There will also be shared readings giving concrete examples of publicly engaged humanities projects, and discussions of the concept of the 'public.' Students will also have opportunities to learn from experts on production of podcasts, blogs, videos or other public venues.

School of Education Department

The School of Education

UTEP (Undergraduate Teacher Education Pathways)

School of Education UTEP programs at Hunter College prepare prospective teachers to serve as highly effective educators, and provide opportunities to work with children of diverse backgrounds, abilities, and interests within an array of educational settings in New York State.

A student who completes an undergraduate School of Education program fulfills the academic requirements for New York State Initial Certification. All students in an education major or minor at Hunter must also fulfill both the Hunter Core requirement and the requirements for a liberal arts or sciences major.

The School of Education is committed to the development of teacher candidates that will be both educators and lifelong students. Teacher preparation that focuses on the unique challenges of working in NYC public school classrooms is at the core of Hunter College's educational mission, and the School of Education is a place for aspiring teachers to learn their craft and contribute to the future through the classroom.

School of Education students are held to the highest professional and academic standards, and will be expected to:

- Learn deep and broad content knowledge across academic disciplines.
- Develop professional knowledge and academic skills.
- Learn the theory and practice of effective pedagogy.
- Understand the history, philosophy, psychology, and sociology of education that will inform their teaching.

The School of Education also believes in preparing teacher candidates to work with a diverse student population in the modern classroom, and recognizes that learning takes place inside social and community networks that support student learning. Thus, our programs also provide teacher candidates with knowledge on how to:

- Manage their educational setting to provide effective instruction for all students.
- Design lessons and units of work for students and to adapt their instruction to students' prior knowledge and level of skill.
- Use research-based theories and methods of teaching students with special needs, including special education students and English language learners.
- Learn to create humane and ethical learning communities in which all students receive the support they need to achieve academically.
- Learn to communicate effectively with parents, families, community members, and other members of the school faculty and staff in order to provide this support.
- Master the use of technology as a tool for teaching.

Finally, becoming a Hunter College teacher candidate requires dedication to the continuous improvement of one's professional abilities. Our programs, therefore, ensure teacher candidates know how to:

- Reflect on teaching practice in order to strengthen work with students and grow as professionals.
- Gain expertise in analyzing and using assessments of student achievement to guide and inform instruction.

Program Description

The BA/MA program in Adolescent Biology Education leads to initial certification as a teacher in New York State.

This bachelor's / master's program in adolescent education is designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educators for students in urban secondary schools. Teacher candidates will take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling of the CUNY Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their aligned liberal arts or sciences major. Courses for this program are taken at both the undergradaute and gradaute levels. This program includes fieldwork in New York City Public schools.

Degree Requirements - Bachelor of Arts

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 120 credits

AND

Earn at least 30 credits
In Residence at Hunter College

AND

Earn at least undefined credits
Liberal Arts and Sciences Content Courses

AND

Earn a minimum GPA of 2.0

General Education Requirements - Common Core

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 6 credits from the following:

- Required Core English Composition

Students who receive an "exemption" for ENGL 12000 or for a course in English Comp 2 are deemed to have fulfilled English Composition 1 or 2, respectively.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Required Core Mathematical and Quantitative Reasoning

Some courses in this categories carry more than 3 credits (the "STEM variant" courses). Students who elect to take these courses may apply only three credits towards fulfilling the Common Core.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Required Core Life and Physical Sciences

Some courses in this categories carry more than 3 credits (the "STEM variant" courses). Students who elect to take these courses may apply only three credits towards fulfilling the Common Core.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Flexible Core Individual and Society Social Science

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Flexible Core Individual and Society Humanities

Additional Comments:
Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.

- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.*

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.*

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS/DEGREES TRANSFERRED	CREDITS/REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	12
30 or more, without an AA/AS degree	9
AA/AS degree	6

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Additional Comments:

Declaring the Major
Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor’s degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.

Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.

The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Biology.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Undergraduate Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement.

In the case of Biology, the courses that meet CCCR are:

- BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I
- BIOL 10200 (STEM) - Principles of Biology II

Please note that no more than two courses from any one department will count for the CUNY Common Core Requirement.

Major Requirements - Biology Requirements (67-83 Credits)

Required Courses (44-46)

Earn at least 44 credits from the following:

- BIOL 20300 - Molecular Biology and Genetics
- BIOL 30000 - Biological Chemistry
- BIOL 30300 - Cell Biology
- CHEM 10200 - General Chemistry 1
- CHEM 10400 - General Chemistry 2
- CHEM 10600 - General Chemistry Lab
- CHEM 22204 - Organic Chemistry 1 (Lec)
- CHEM 22300 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory I
- CHEM 22404 - Organic Chemistry 2 (Lec)
- PHYS 11000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound*

- and

- PHYS 12000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics*

- or

- PHYS 11100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound*

- and

- PHYS 12100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics*

*These courses may be counted for credit in more than one program.

Electives (11 credits)

Students select the remainder of their credits toward the Biology Major from advanced courses in the biological sciences so as to create a core area of study. Eleven credits are required to complete the major. A minimum of two elective lecture courses must be taken, with at least one course at the 30000 level or higher, in addition to BIOL 30000 and BIOL 30300, for a minimum of six credits. For the remaining elective credits, at least one special-topics course must be taken (BIOL 47000 or BIOL 47100 or BIOL 79000; various topics offered each semester) in addition to other lecture or research courses. There are some BIOL courses that do not count as electives towards the Biology Major (e.g. BIOL 12000, BIOL 12200 and BIOL 23000). Please read the course descriptions carefully to identify those courses. If you have any questions about which courses can be used as major electives, please speak to your Biology department advisor. Students with strong interdisciplinary interests may select advanced course offerings in other departments after approval by their adviser. Four credits of laboratory research are recommended and can count towards the total elective credits either from a laboratory elective course or from research within an approved research laboratory.

Laboratory research credits are taken as a BIOL 48000 research course for a maximum of two credits per semester and require a written report or presentation of work required for completion of course. Laboratory research credits can also be obtained from BIOL 61000

5. Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in their program.
6. Students must take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement - Fall 2013 to Spring 2019.

In the case of Biology, the courses that meet CCCR are:

- BIOL 10000 (STEM) - Principles of Biology I
- BIOL 10200 (STEM) - Principles of Biology II

Please note that no more than two courses from any one department will count for the CUNY Common Core Requirement.

Earn at least 11 credits

Students select the remainder of their credits toward the Biology Major from advanced courses in the biological sciences so as to create a core area of study. Eleven credits are required to complete the major. A minimum of two elective lecture courses must be taken, with at least one course at the 30000 level or higher, in addition to BIOL 30000 and BIOL 30300, for a minimum of six credits. For the remaining elective credits, at least one special-topics course must be taken (BIOL 47000 or BIOL 47100 or BIOL 79000; various topics offered each semester) in addition to other lecture or research courses. There are some BIOL courses that do not count as electives towards the Biology Major (e.g. BIOL 12000, BIOL 12200 and BIOL 23000). Please read the course descriptions carefully to identify those courses. If you have any questions about which courses can be used as major electives, please speak to your Biology department advisor. Students with strong interdisciplinary interests may select advanced course offerings in other departments after approval by their adviser. Four credits of laboratory research are recommended and can count towards the total elective credits either from a laboratory elective course or from research within an approved research laboratory. Laboratory research credits are taken as a BIOL 48000 research course for a maximum of two credits per semester and require a written report or presentation of work required for completion of course. Laboratory research credits can also be obtained from BIOL 61000.

Based on placement exams or transferred courses, students may place into some more advanced Mathematics and Statistics courses without taking Hunter College pre-requisites. See the Mathematics and Statistics department for details.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Declaring the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor’s degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.

Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.

The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Chemistry.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Program Description
The BA/MA program in Adolescent Chemistry Education leads to initial certification as a teacher in New York State.This bachelor's / master's program in adolescent education is designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educators for students in urban secondary schools. Teacher candidates will take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling of the CUNY Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their aligned liberal arts or sciences major. Courses for this program are taken at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. This program includes fieldwork in New York City Public schools.

Declaring the Major:
Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor's degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year. Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter. The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Environmental Studies Earth Science Concentration.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Undergraduate Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

School of Education Exit Standards

Program Description

The BA program in Adolescent Teaching Languages Other Than English: Chinese, Grades 7-12 leads to initial certification as a teacher in New York State.

The undergraduate programs in adolescent education are designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educators for students in urban secondary schools. Teacher candidates will take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the CUNY Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their liberal arts or sciences major. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools.

Additional Comments:
Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.

- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Program Description
The Childhood Education, Grades 1-6 (QUEST) undergraduate teacher education program prepares students to become New York State certified teachers of childhood education. This program is committed to the preparation of urban elementary school teachers who can deal effectively with the wide range of diverse learning needs found among the City's students. Teacher candidates will take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the CUNY Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their liberal arts or sciences major. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools. This is a 42-45 credit program in which students have an option to complete the course of study over four or six semesters.

Declaring the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor's degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.

Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.

The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. 30 credits in liberal arts and sciences (Students may apply to QUEST if the total of their completed credits plus credits in which they are currently enrolled is at least 30 credits.)
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Declaration of an appropriate liberal arts and sciences major.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Liberal Arts & Sciences Major Requirement

All students in School of Education programs must also declare a major in the School of Arts & Sciences. This major must lead to a BA degree.

See the School of Arts & Sciences for more information on major options.

Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0 and an education sequence index of at least 3.0.
- Students must receive grades of C or better in Childhood Education courses that do not include fieldwork. QUEST fieldwork courses require a grade of B or better. All QUEST courses are repeatable once by students who have received a grade of D in a non-fieldwork course or a grade below B in a fieldwork course. Students must officially re-register for these courses. Students who receive an F in any course may not continue in the program. Students who receive an F or D in fieldwork may not continue in the program.
- In order to register for QSTA 40680 - Mathematics Teaching and Learning in Elementary School, students must have completed MATH 10400 (STEM) and MATH 10500. If progress through the QUEST program would be delayed by the requirement for MATH 10500 as a prerequisite, then the program coordinator may allow students to enroll in QSTA 40680 after completing MATH 10400 (STEM) and registering for MATH 10500.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:

- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

We do not recommend you taking a full-time course load this semester because Student Teaching is a full-time experience. For example, you may consider speaking with Financial Aid about whether you would qualify for Part-Time TAP aid this semester. However, if you need a full-time course load due to financial aid concerns, think strategically about which courses you would like to take. Please also note possible scheduling conflicts since Student Teaching will be held during normal school hours Monday-Friday this semester.

Program Description
Dance Pre K-12 BA leads to initial certification as a teacher in New York State.

The undergraduate programs in adolescent education are designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educators for students in urban secondary schools. Teacher candidates will take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling of the CUNY Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their liberal arts or sciences major. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools.

The Education course of study is a 26-credit sequence that students usually complete over four semesters in addition to the major in the subject they plan to teach.

Additional Comments:
Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three “STEM variant” science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

CREDITS OF FOREIGN LANGUAGE NEEDED	CREDITS OF CONCENTRATED STUDY NEEDED

For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.*

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.*

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS/DEGREES TRANSFERRED	CREDITS/REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	12
30 or more, without an AA/AS degree	9
AA/AS degree	6

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Dance.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in any education course will be required to repeat that course.
- Students are permitted to repeat a course only once. Students who do not successfully complete a course on their second attempt will not be permitted to continue in their program.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in their program.
- Students must take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Additional Comments:
Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.

- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Declaring the Dance PreK - 12 BA/MA major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor’s degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty, including the coordinator of the BA/MA dance education program. The BA/MA Dance Education applicant should also set up a time for the Dance Education Coordinator, in consult with dance faculty, to be observed in a dance class. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.
Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter. The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Dance.
5. Participation in a group interview.
Meeting minimum requirements to declare the major does not guarantee entry into the program.

Academic Progress Standards

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Dance Progress Standard

All dance majors must demonstrate proficiency to qualify for level 1 or higher in contemporary, ballet or hip-hop dance technique by the 5th semester of their college career. Inability to complete at least level 1 Contemporary, Ballet or Hip-Hop technique after 3 attempts will result in the student being removed from the major.

AND

Undergraduate Academic Progress Standards

• Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0
• Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
• Any student who receives a grade of D in an undergraduate education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
• Any student who receives a grade of F in any Education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
• Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

AND

Graduate Academic Progress Standards

1. Minimum GPA for Retention - Graduate students must maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 to remain at Hunter College. Students whose grades fall below this standard are required to raise their GPAs to at least 3.0 within one semester.
2. No F in the first two semesters—students who receive a grade of F or WU in any course in the first two semesters will not be allowed to continue in the program.
3. Progress holds due to Incomplete Grades - Students with two or more INCs will not be allowed to register for any courses.
4. Key Course Performance Standards
• Students must receive a grade of at least a B in key program courses.
• Students who receive a grade of F or WU in key program courses may not continue in the program.
• Key Program Courses are identified by the label (KC) in the course title.

Program Description
The Early Childhood, Birth through Grade 2 undergraduate teacher education program prepares students to become New York State certified teachers of early childhood education. This program is designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educators for students in urban schools and other childcare settings. Teacher candidates will take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the CUNY Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their liberal arts or sciences major. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools. This is a 39-42 credit program in which students have an option to complete the course of study over four or six semesters.

Declaring the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor's degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.

Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.

The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Complete at least 30 credits toward the Bachelor's degree. Students with more than 72 credits should consider pursuing Early Childhood Education at the graduate level.
2. Attain a Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Declare an appropriate liberal arts and sciences major either preceding admission or upon admission to the program.

Liberal Arts & Sciences Major Requirement

All students in School of Education programs must also declare a major in the School of Arts & Sciences. This major must lead to a BA degree.

See the School of Arts & Sciences for more information on major options.

Academic Progress Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to continue in the program:

- A minimum grade of C or better in all non-field courses (Courses can only be repeated once)
- A minimum grade of B or better in all fieldwork courses. (Fieldwork courses can only be repeated once)
- Maintain a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete 6 credits of study in a foreign language (or be exempt from the foreign language requirement) prior to the completion of ECC 30600: Language and Literacy for Children of Diverse Backgrounds, K-2
- Complete Math 10400 (STEM) with a minimum grade of C prior to registering for ECC 31000: Mathematics in Early Childhood.
- Follow the course sequence, which represents the required classes that Early Childhood students must take each semester. The courses for each semester must be completed successfully in that term.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:

- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Program Description

The BA program in Adolescent English Education leads to initial certification as a teacher in New York State.

The undergraduate programs in adolescent education are designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educators for students in urban secondary schools. Teacher candidates will take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the CUNY Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their liberal arts or sciences major. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools.

The Education course of study is a 27-credit sequence that students usually complete over four semesters in addition to the major in the subject they plan to teach.

Additional Comments:
Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three “STEM variant” science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.*

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.*

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS/DEGREES TRANSFERRED	CREDITS/REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	12
30 or more, without an AA/AS degree	9
AA/AS degree	6

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS TRANSFERRED	COURSES REQUIRED
Fewer than 31	4
31 or more	2

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can only satisfy one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Writing Intensive

Type
Completion Requirement

Complete at least 1 course in the following course sets:

- Writing Intensive

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least one Writing Intensive course, designated with a "W" in the catalog, at Hunter College. The number of Writing Intensive courses required is determined by the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS TRANSFERRED	"W" COURSES REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	3
31-59	2
60 or more	1

Note: Specific sections of courses containing significant writing are listed with a W designation in the Schedule of Classes. Please note that not all sections of a course are necessarily offered with significant writing. To satisfy the Writing Requirement a section designated as W in the Schedule of Classes must be taken.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Overall

Type
Completion Requirement

Declaring the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor's degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.
Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.
The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in English.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Meeting minimum requirements to declare the major does not guarantee entry into the program.

School of Education Academic Progress Standards

1. Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.

2. Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.

3. Any student who receives a grade of D in any education course will be required to repeat that course.

4. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once. Students who do not successfully complete a course on their second attempt will not be permitted to continue in their program.

5. Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in their program.

6. Students must take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:

1. Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0

Earn at least 70 credits

Electives

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Students in this major are required to take nine credits of elective courses. One elective course must be a 400-level advanced seminar, which can only be taken after achieving 24 credits in the major (see below). The remaining courses must be at the 300-level or above (with the exception of ENGL 28500). All English majors also have the option to take one of their elective courses in another department. In order to do this, students must meet all of that department's prerequisites for the course. Students with double majors may apply the course to one of those majors, but not both. For example, someone majoring in English and History who takes HIST 34251 Britain Since 1689, may count that course toward either the English or History major, not both. Students may choose from the courses and departments listed below.

Note: To take a course in one of the following departments and programs that is not on the list, or in another department, students must have prior written permission from an English advisor and must meet all the prerequisites for the course. Permission will only be granted for 300-level courses in other departments.

400-level Advanced Seminar
All English majors must take a 400-level Advanced Seminar as one of their electives. In order to be eligible for the course, students must first complete at least 24 credits in the major and meet the prerequisites for the specific Seminar (listed below).

ENGL 49000 Advanced Seminar in Literature and Criticism (Prerequisites: ENGL 22000; ENGL 25200; ENGL 30400; ENGL 30600; ENGL 30700; one of ENGL 31700, 31800, 32000, 32100, 32300, 32400, 32500, 32600, 32700, or 32900)

ENGL 49200 Advanced Seminar in Linguistics and/or Rhetoric (Prerequisites: ENGL 22000; ENGL 25200; ENGL 28000; ENGL 30100: one of ENGL 34000, ENGL 34100, ENGL 34200, or ENGL 34300; and one of ENGL 33000, ENGL 33200, ENGL 33300, ENGL 34600, ENGL 34700, ENGL 34800)

ENGL 48400 Advanced Seminar in Creative Writing (Prerequisites: ENGL 22000; ENGL 25200; ENGL 28500; ENGL 30400; ENGL 30700; and both a level 1 and 2 workshop in the student's chosen genre)

Students may take any Advanced Seminar for which they meet the prerequisites. If eligible, students may take the Honors Seminar (ENGL 49400) in place of or in addition to one of the Advanced Seminars. In rare cases, students may take ENGL 48500 Individual Tutorial Project instead of an Advanced Seminar, but only by permission of an advisor and the professor supervising the project.

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three “STEM variant” science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.*

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.*

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS/DEGREES TRANSFERRED	CREDITS/REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	12
30 or more, without an AA/AS degree	9
AA/AS degree	6

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Declaring the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor’s degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.

Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.

The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in French.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
- Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: General Education - Effective Fall 2019.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:

- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Program Description

The BA program in Adolescent Social Studies Education leads to initial certification as a teacher in New York State. The undergraduate programs in adolescent education are designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educators for students in urban secondary schools. Teacher candidates will take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling of the CUNY Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their liberal arts or sciences major. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three “STEM variant” science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Declaring the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor's degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year. The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter. The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in History.
5. Participation in a group interview

Academic Progress Standards

1. Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
2. Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
3. Any student who receives a grade of D in any education course will be required to repeat that course.
4. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once. Students who do not successfully complete a course on their second attempt will not be permitted to continue in their program.
5. Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in their program.
6. Students must take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core [CCCR], Hunter Focus, Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. In the case of Social Studies, the courses that meet CCCR are:

- HIST 11100 - World History to 1500
- HIST 11200 - World History from 1500 to the Present
- HIST 12100 - Early Modern Europe 1500 to 1815

Declaring the Major

Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor’s degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.

Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.

The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Italian.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in any education course will be required to repeat that course.
- Students are permitted to repeat a course only once. Students who do not successfully complete a course on their second attempt will not be permitted to continue in their program.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in their program.
- Students must take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:

- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0.

Program Description

The BA program in Adolescent Mathematics Education leads to initial certification as a teacher in New York State.

There are two tracks:

- Track I Mathematics
- Track II Statistics

The undergraduate programs in adolescent education are designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educators for students in urban secondary schools. Teacher candidates will take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling of the CUNY Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their liberal arts or sciences major. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools.

Requirements

AND

Earn a minimum GPA of 2.0

General Education Requirements - Common Core

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 6 credits from the following:

- Required Core English Composition

Students who receive an “exemption” for ENGL 12000 or for a course in English Comp 2 are deemed to have fulfilled English Composition 1 or 2, respectively.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Required Core Mathematical and Quantitative Reasoning

Some courses in this categories carry more than 3 credits (the “STEM variant” courses). Students who elect to take these courses may apply only three credits towards fulfilling the Common Core.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Required Core Life and Physical Sciences

Some courses in this categories carry more than 3 credits (the “STEM variant” courses). Students who elect to take these courses may apply only three credits towards fulfilling the Common Core.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Flexible Core Scientific World

Some courses in this categories carry more than 3 credits (the “STEM variant” courses). Students who elect to take these courses may apply only three credits towards fulfilling the Common Core.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Flexible Core Creative Expression

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Flexible Core U.S. Experience in Its Diversity

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Flexible Core World Cultures and Global Issues

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Flexible Core Individual and Society Social Science

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Flexible Core Individual and Society Humanities

Additional Comments:
Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three “STEM variant” science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS TRANSFERRED	COURSES REQUIRED
Fewer than 31	4
31 or more	2

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can only satisfy one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Writing Intensive

Type
Completion Requirement

Complete at least 1 course in the following course sets:

- Writing Intensive

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least one Writing Intensive course, designated with a "W" in the catalog, at Hunter College. The number of Writing Intensive courses required is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Fewer than 30	3
31-59	2

Declaring the Major
Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor’s degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.
Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll.

Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.
The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major
1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Mathematics or Statistics.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Undergraduate Academic Progress Standards
• Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
• Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
• Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
• Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
• Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

School of Education Exit Requirements
Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:
• Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
• Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.

- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Music Requirements (57-63 credits)

Piano Proficiency Requirement: All music majors must demonstrate elementary proficiency at the piano. Students should plan to fulfill this requirement during their first year of study. A passing grade on the piano proficiency examination is a prerequisite for the third semester of study in music theory (MUSTH 32000). Students entering Hunter with limited keyboard background may take MUSPF 21300-MUSPF 21400 (Piano I and II) for elective credit; a passing grade of C or better in MUSPF 21400 satisfies the piano proficiency requirement in lieu of the examination.

Please note that students admitted to the program must take a proficiency examination during the first two semesters of matriculation in order to remain in the program. This examination will test competence in music theory, music history and literature, and applied skills. Deficiencies revealed by the proficiency examination must be made up by studying the relevant subject matter and passing a reexamination. The proficiency examination requirement must be fulfilled before a student may proceed beyond 18 credits.

As a culminating project, Music TEP students are required to prepare a portfolio containing examples of their work. These can include papers which have been graded and commented on by professors, lesson plans, and student reflections on their own growth and experiences throughout the program. It is important that you save all of your work from all of your classes. During the semester in which you student teach, you will be guided in the preparation of your portfolio.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:

- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Declaring the Major
Before you can declare a School of Education major as part of your bachelor’s degree, you must complete a group interview with faculty. Signing up for an interview can be done through the School of Education website. Current Hunter students can request an interview throughout the year.
Students interested in an Education program should interview as early as is possible in the semester prior to the one in which they plan to enroll. Transfer students should seek advisement about declaring a School of Education major as soon as they have been admitted to Hunter.
The School of Education does not accept non-degree or second-degree students. Meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee entry into the program.

Requirements to Declare the Major
1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.

3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Physics.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Undergraduate Academic Progress Standards
• Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
• Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
• Any student who receives a grade of D in an education course will be required to repeat that course. Students are permitted to repeat a course only once.
• Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in the program.
• Take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

School of Education Exit Requirements:
• Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
• Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three “STEM variant” science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student’s advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major. Details on the Hunter Core Requirement can be found here: Hunter Core Requirement - Fall 2013 to Spring 2019.

In the case of the Physics, the courses that meet CCCR are:

- PHYS 11000 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Mechanics, Heat, and Sound
- PHYS 12100 (STEM) - General Physics: Introductory Course in Electricity and Magnetism, Light, and Atomic Physics

Please note that no more than two courses from any one department will count for the CUNY Common Core Requirement.

School of Education Exit Standards

Students must meet the following criteria in order to graduate with a School of Education major or minor:

- Have an overall GPA of at least 3.0
- Complete the Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) anti-bullying workshop. The DASA workshop is required for all students in a NYS certification program at the School of Education. The workshop requires six clock hours of coursework or training.

Program Description

The BA program in Adolescent Teaching Languages Other Than English leads to initial certification as a teacher in New York State.

The undergraduate programs in adolescent education are designed to prepare prospective teachers to serve as high-quality educators for students in urban secondary schools. Teacher candidates will take a specified sequence of education courses in addition to fulfilling the CUNY Common Core Requirement and the requirements of their liberal arts or sciences major. These programs include fieldwork in New York City Public schools.

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Requirements to Declare the Major

1. Minimum of at least 60 credits but no more than 90 credits completed by the first semester in the education program.
2. A Hunter College Grade Point Average (GPA) of 3.0 or better.
3. Evidence of advanced writing ability through a review of English composition and writing intensive coursework.
4. Formal declaration of a major in Spanish.
5. Participation in a group interview.

Academic Progress Standards

- Students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.0.
- Any student who receives a grade of B-, C+, C or D in a course with fieldwork or student teaching must apply to the department chairperson for permission to re-register for that course, which may be repeated only once.
- Any student who receives a grade of D in any education course will be required to repeat that course.
- Students are permitted to repeat a course only once. Students who do not successfully complete a course on their second attempt will not be permitted to continue in their program.
- Any student who receives a grade of F in any education course will not be permitted to continue in their program.

Students must take and pass both the Educating All Students test (EAS) and the appropriate Content Specialty Test (CST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Exams prior to student teaching.

Hunter Core Requirement

Several courses within this major may fulfill parts of the Hunter Core Requirement (CUNY Common Core Requirement [CCCR], Concurrent Requirements). When selecting courses, it may be to a student's advantage to choose courses that count toward the Hunter Core Requirement and also advance the student on the path to the major.

School of Education Exit Standards

School of Nursing Department

Overview

The School of Nursing is located at Hunter College's Brookdale Health Science Center at 425 East 25th Street in Manhattan. The School's programs combine liberal and professional education with a humanistic and holistic approach to health care. The School's mission is to provide quality nursing education to promote health and provide care to culturally diverse, urban, and global communities through research, scholarship and service.

The School offers three programs leading to the Bachelor of Science (with a major in nursing) degree: the Generic Program, for traditional students who have completed high school;-the RN to BS Program for students who have completed an Associate degree nursing program and are licensed as a RN; and the Accelerated 2nd Degree Program for students who have a non-nursing baccalaureate degree. For more information, contact Ms. María Luisa Mendoza, Manager for Undergraduate Admissions, prenursingadvising@hunter.cuny.edu or attend an information session.

What can I do with my degree in Nursing?

School of Nursing Baccalaureate graduates are prepared to practice as generalist nurses in health care settings.

Degree Maps

Admission Requirements (all Programs)

Students are considered for admission to the Generic Program, Accelerated 2nd Degree and RN to BS programs for the fall semester only. Students are considered for admission to the generic program in the spring semester of their freshman year, after completing prerequisite course work and an application to the School of Nursing. An overall college GPA of 3.2 in addition to other requirements is the minimum requirement for consideration of an application. Only matriculated Hunter College students can apply to the Generic Program. Admission to the School of Nursing is competitive. Generic Program and Accelerated 2nd Degree Program students must be able to attend during the day and evening on a full-time basis, including weekends. All clinical assignments are made by the school faculty depending on site availability. RN to BS Program students attend Nursing major coursework fully online, on a full-or a part-time basis.

HBSON and Queensborough Community College have a collaborative agreement that grants early acceptance of AAS students into the RN to BS program. Students must complete their first semester of study at QCC with a grade of B or better in NU 101 and a GPA of 3.2 or better for early acceptance.

GPA Requirements for Nursing Programs

An overall college GPA of 3.2 in addition to other requirements is the minimum requirement for consideration of an application.

Attendance Requirements for Nursing

Generic Program and Accelerated 2nd Degree Program students complete coursework in person on a full-time basis. RN to BS students complete Nursing major coursework fully online, on a full-or a part-time basis.

Grading Policy for Nursing Courses

Students must receive minimum grades of C in all required nursing courses. One required nursing course (Generic Pathway: NURS 20000, NURS 21000, NURS 22000, NURS 24000, NURS 33100, NURS 33200, NURS 33900, NURS 34300, NURS 34900, NURS 35200, NURS 36000, NURS 45500, NURS 46000, NURS 47000, NURS 49000 NURS 49200, NURS 42200) is repeatable once by students who have received a failing grade. Students who fail a second required nursing course in the sequence or a second Biology course may not repeat that course and may not continue in the nursing major.

Note: Other colleges, graduate schools, professional schools, services and employers may calculate a grade point average inclusive of the failing grades. For questions regarding this policy, check with the Office of Advising Services, Rm 1119 East Building.

School of Nursing Licensing and Accreditation

Accreditation

The baccalaureate degree in nursing programs, the master's degree in nursing programs, and the Doctor of Nursing Practice program at Hunter College, CUNY, are accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education, 655 K Street NW, Suite 750, Washington DC 20001, 202-887-6791.

Licensing

Hunter-Bellevue Baccalaureate graduates are prepared to practice as generalist nurses in health care settings. Graduates from the Generic and Accelerated 2nd Degree Programs are eligible to take the National Council Licensing Examination for Registered Nurses (NCLEX-RN). The program also provides a foundation for graduate study which also is offered at the School of Nursing. Graduates of the advanced practice nursing programs are eligible to take the certification examinations for nurse practitioners and clinical nurse specialists.

Centers

The Health Professions Education Center (HPEC)

The Health Professions Education Center (HPEC) is an academic learning center serving all students and faculty at the Hunter College Nursing and School of Health Professions. A variety of comprehensive support services and programs are offered at the HPEC to enhance student academic success, retention, and completion rates by applying best practices and addressing student learning needs from multiple pedagogical perspectives. Our services are designed to develop critical thinking, reinforce practice of clinical skills, and foster a supportive, professional environment for student collaboration and scholarship.

The HPEC combines traditional approaches to teaching with new instructional technologies that reflect the dynamic nature of all health professions. Services at the center include:

- Access to the largest collection of health-related videos and instructional media within CUNY.
- Computer-aided educational software and virtual training technologies.
- Access to state board testing preparation programs.
- Technology support at the Hunter College Brookdale Campus.
- Beta testing and evaluation of new instructional media.
- Faculty consultation for research and classroom media integration.
- Development and administration of e-learning initiatives, online testing, and digital content.
- Individual and group study support.
- Simulation laboratory support through the New York Simulation (NYSIM) Center.

Faculty and students from all Hunter College schools and departments are always welcome to view the many resources available at the HPEC.

Director: Martin Dornbaum; Mezzanine floor, Brookdale West Building; (212) 481-5129, mdornbau@hunter.cuny.edu

For Evening assistance: email edcenter@hunter.cuny.edu

Website: http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/shp/centers/hpec/

The center maintains regular office hours throughout the academic year, Monday-Thursday 9AM-9PM and Fridays 9AM-5PM.

Center for Nursing Research

The mission of the Center for Nursing Research (CNR) at SON is to support and facilitate the development of nurse scientists and their research.

The Goals of the CNR:

- Foster a sustainable culture of scholarship
- Develop an infrastructure to support and disseminate nursing research
- Facilitate interprofessional research collaboration
- Engage students in the research process

The CNR offers support to faculty in all stages of the research process, from conceptualization of research design through obtaining funding, implementation of the research project, data analysis and publication of findings.

Opportunities are provided for students to participate in research with faculty as research assistants. The Center assists students in the preparation of research posters for presentation at nursing conferences and the CNR annual Evidence-Based Practice Poster Day.

Hunter College School of Nursing is a partner in a major research consortium of the Weill Cornell Medical College Clinical and Translational Science Center (CTSC). The mission of the CTSC is to provide an environment that allows optimal use of our considerable multi-institutional assets and the diversity of our patient population to move translational research seamlessly from bench to bedside and to the community.The CTSC acts as a conduit through which essential resources, technological tools and education programs for all partners can be efficiently shared and managed. The multi-institutional consortium includes The Weill Cornell Graduate School of Medical Sciences, New York Presbyterian Hospital, Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, the Hospital for Special Surgery, the Hunter College School of Nursing, the Hunter College Center for Translational and Basic Research and the Cornell University Cooperative Extension in New York City.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.

- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Hunter Focus: Language Proficiency Requirement

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.*

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.*

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS/DEGREES TRANSFERRED	CREDITS/REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	12
30 or more, without an AA/AS degree	9
AA/AS degree	6

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Requirements for Admission

In order to be considered for admission into the Accelerated 2nd Degree Program, applicants must meet eligibility requirements and admission criteria. All students applying to the Accelerated 2nd Degree Nursing Program must have a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution with a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.2 and a minimum grade of “B” in all science courses and Statistics by June 1 preceding their entrance into the program. Students who meet GPA and degree requirements are required to take the National League for Nursing Pre-admission-RN Examination in order to apply for admission into the program.

Students may take their last two required courses for admission during the spring semester of the admission process. Required courses must be taken for a grade: courses taken on a credit/no credit (CR/NC) basis will not be accepted. Students may not take required courses during the summer immediately preceding the fall entry into the program. Proof of successful completion of courses taken in the spring must be received by the School of Nursing by June 1. Because admissions decisions are made before the spring term ends, applicants with pending grades will be conditionally accepted until receipt of final grades. Acceptance into the nursing major is based on the following admission criteria: composite admission score (GPA plus score on NLN Pre-Admission-RN Examination) and completion of all admission requirements. The composite scores are rank ordered from the highest to the lowest, and admission decisions are given to those applicants with the highest scores.

Program Description

The Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing undergraduate program of study combines liberal arts and professional nursing education with a humanistic and comprehensive approach to health care, leading to a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Nursing. At the completion of this generic program, students are eligible to take the National Council of State Boards Licensing Examination for RNs (NCLEX-RN). The undergraduate program also provides a foundation for graduate study. The Generic Program consists of two parts:

- Non-nursing (liberal arts and core requirements)
- Nursing (professional nursing education)

Students are considered for admission to the school of nursing for the fall semester only, after completing non-nursing pre-requisite courses and an application. Only students admitted to the School of Nursing are permitted to declare nursing as their major. Students admitted to the School of Nursing are required to attend the program on a full-time basis.

Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three “STEM variant” science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any “College Option” credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student’s transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Requirements for Admission to Nursing Program

All students applying to the Generic Nursing Program must have a college GPA of 3.2 or above by the end of the fall semester preceding spring application.

- Courses taken prior to clinical nursing courses may not be taken on a Credit/No Credit basis.
- Required courses for admission to nursing major with a minimum GPA of 3.2 and a minimum grade of "B" in statistics and all science courses:
  - General Chemistry with lab (CHEM 10000 /CHEM 10100) or higher equivalent course
  - Organic Chemistry with lab (CHEM 12000 /CHEM 12100) or higher equivalent course
  - Introduction to Statistics (STAT 11300) or higher equivalent course
  - History(HIST 15100, HIST 15200 or POLSC 11000)
  - English Composition (ENGL 12000 and ENGL 22000)
  - General Psychology (PSYCH 10000)
  - Human Development (Developmental Psychology of the Life Span; PSYCH 15000)
- Students enrolled in required courses for admission to nursing major during the spring semester of application must provide proof of a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.2 and a minimum grade of "B" in all science courses no later than June 1st in order to receive final acceptance to the nursing major.
- A career goal statement will be required.
- Complete the NLN RN Pre-Admission exam (referred to as the NLN PAX exam) which is administered in February at Hunter College Testing Center (150N)

Repeating a Course
Note: Students who fail a core prerequisite course in a nursing sequence may not proceed to the next course in the sequence without repeating the failed course. In order to continue in the Nursing major, students must receive minimum grades of "C" in all required nursing courses. Students who receive a grade of "D" or lower will be allowed to repeat the course only once. Students who fail a second required nursing course will be dismissed from the nursing program. This policy applies even if a grade appeal is in progress. Students who fail the clinical portion of a course will receive an "F" for the entire course, regardless of the corresponding theory grade.

Leave of Absence Policy and Reserved Placement in a Clinical Course
A reserved placement in a clinical/field course will be held for the student for only one year from the date of the leave of absence. It is the responsibility of the student to submit to the undergraduate program Associate Dean a letter of intent, one semester prior to returning to the program and enrolling in the course (April 1 for a fall course). Students who fail to follow this procedure release the School of Nursing from reserving a clinical/field placement in a course for the student.

Program Description

The QB RN to BS program was developed ten years ago, allowing AAS graduates from Queensborough Community College who have their RN license to practice in New York State to enter Hunter in their junior year to take nursing courses to complete thier BS degree. The nursing profession and health care delivery in general have evolved substantially since the RN to BS curriculum was created over 10 years ago. Students must learn more complex nursing content than ever before, and must be prepared to care for sicker patients than in the past. For example, in the current health care climate, patients are discharged after shorter hospitalizations than traditional practice, resulting in a population of patients with higher acuity and who require complex care by nurses.In addition, these proposed changes are aligned with the American Association of Colleges of Nursing's current Essentials of Baccalaureate Education for Professional Nursing Practice (2008). The online format matches the RN to BS curriculum (approved in 2015) and is responsive to the adult learner.

Admission Criteria: RN-to-BS Program
An overall college GPA of 3.2 in addition to other requirements is the minimum requirement for consideration of an application. Admission to the School of Nursing is competitive.

The program is designed for RN students who have already completed a two- or three-year nursing program. All RN students admitted to the program are required to submit evidence of NYS RN licensure, health insurance, medical records with specified immunizations, background check and drug test, and CPR certification prior to entering the first semester of the nursing major.

Applicants who are in the process of taking the licensing examination are admitted conditionally. Proof of receipt of an RN license must be submitted to the Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing by December 1 for students admitted in the fall. Students unable to show proof of license will not be permitted to continue in the nursing major. Applicants to the RN-BS Program must have completed 36 credits of liberal arts and sciences (including credits in progress) at an accredited college, plus the equivalent of 24 credits in nursing.

Students transferring from any accredited associate degree program in the United States will be granted 24 nursing credits for having a Professional Registered Nurse license. The Nursing Regents College Examinations (RCE'S) in Adult Nursing, Maternal and Child Nursing, and Psychiatric/Mental Health Nursing at the baccalaureate level are required for applicants from schools without accreditation, and for international graduates. A grade of "C" or better is acceptable.

Students should download a current RN Program Fact Sheet, which details the admission process, from the Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing website at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/nursing.

International applicants who need an F-1 or J-1 visa are not currently eligible for this program.

Major Requirements - Overall

Type
Completion Requirement

Admission Criteria: RN-to-BS Program
An overall college GPA of 3.2 in addition to other requirements is the minimum requirement for consideration of an application. Admission to the School of Nursing is competitive.

The program is designed for RN students who have already completed a two- or three-year nursing program. All RN students admitted to the program are required to submit evidence of NYS RN licensure, health insurance, medical records with specified immunizations, background check and drug test, and CPR certification prior to entering the first semester of the nursing major.

Applicants who are in the process of taking the licensing examination are admitted conditionally. Proof of receipt of an RN license must be submitted to the Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing by December 1 for students admitted in the fall. Students unable to show proof of license will not be permitted to continue in the nursing major. Applicants to the RN-BS Program must have completed 36 credits of liberal arts and sciences (including credits in progress) at an accredited college, plus the equivalent of 24 credits in nursing.

Students transferring from any accredited associate degree program in the United States will be granted 24 nursing credits for having a Professional Registered Nurse license. The Nursing Regents College Examinations (RCE'S) in Adult Nursing, Maternal and Child Nursing, and Psychiatric/Mental Health Nursing at the baccalaureate level are required for applicants from schools without accreditation, and for international graduates. A grade of "C" or better is acceptable.

Students should download a current RN Program Fact Sheet, which details the admission process, from the Hunter-Bellevue School of Nursing website at http://www.hunter.cuny.edu/nursing.

International applicants who need an F-1 or J-1 visa are not currently eligible for this program.

Repeating a Course
Note: Students who fail a course in a nursing sequence may not proceed to the next course in the sequence without repeating the failed course. In order to continue in the Nursing major, students must receive minimum grades of "C" in all required nursing courses. Students who receive a grade of "D" or lower in a clinical nursing course will be allowed to repeat the course only once. Students who fail a second required nursing course will be dismissed from the nursing program. This policy applies even if a grade appeal is in progress. Students who fail the clinical portion of a course will receive an "F" for the entire course, regardless of the corresponding theory grade.

Social Work Department

Silberman School of Social Work

Overview

The Lois V. and Samuel J. Silberman School of Social Work at Hunter College (SSSW) is the largest and oldest public school of social work in metropolitan New York. Founded in 1956 and accredited since 1958, the School educates and trains outstanding social work professionals, who are lifelong learners engaged in knowledgeable, ethical practice with communities locally, nationally, and globally. Guided by this mission, the School is uniquely committed to social work excellence in the public interest. Its classroom curriculum, practicum experiences, and community-engaged partnerships are focused on supporting persons, families, organizations, and communities, while respecting the humanity of all individuals. The School enrolls around 1,300 students in its flagship Master of Social Work (MSW) and growing Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) programs, along with nationally recognized continuing education, executive leadership, dual master's degree, and doctoral programs.

The Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) and Master of Social Work (MSW) programs offered by the Silberman School of Social Work at Hunter College are accredited by the Council on Social Work Education, 1701 Duke Street, Suite 200, Alexandria, VA 22314.

Campus

With the support of the Silberman family and the Hunter College senior administration, the School moved to a state-of-the-art campus in East Harlem in 2011, designed specifically to meet its needs in the community. The School was also renamed in honor of its benefactors Lois and Samuel Silberman, whose generosity not only made this relocation possible but has also steadily supported and enhanced the School for more than half a century. The Silberman Building includes a well-resourced and beautiful library; community meeting spaces; state-of-the-art classrooms and conference rooms; four computer labs with extensive software; an interior courtyard garden; and a large terrace. Co-located with the School of Social Work in the Silberman Building are the library and archives of Centro, the Center for Puerto Rican Studies at Hunter College; the Hunter East Harlem Gallery; and the Brookdale Center for Healthy Aging. These resources each enhance the School's cross-disciplinary learning environment. Together with all of Hunter College, the Silberman School of Social Work is dedicated to engaging and supporting its dynamic neighbor communities in East Harlem, and communities across the New York region and beyond.

What Can I Do with my Degree in Social Work?

A degree in social work opens up a range of exciting and meaningful professional opportunities. Most broadly, social workers support the complex needs of individuals, groups, communities, organizations, and populations across the lifespan. The National Association of Social Workers (NASW) underlines the depth and breadth of this work, describing social work practice as:

the application of social work values, principles, and techniques to one or more of the following ends: helping people obtain tangible services; counseling and psychotherapy with individuals, families, and groups; helping communities or groups provide or improve social and health services; and participating in legislative processes. The practice of social work requires knowledge of human development and behavior; of social and economic, and cultural institutions; and of the interaction of all these factors.

There is significant need across the United States for professionals who possess that knowledge along with the unique values, principles, and techniques that a social work education confers. According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, "Overall employment of social workers is projected to grow 16 percent from 2016 to 2026, much faster than the average for all occupations [7%]" (BLS 2018). This growth is driven by increasing demand in the healthcare and social service sectors. Earning a social work degree is not only intellectually stimulating and socially transformational – it also offers many opportunities for career advancement.

The Silberman School of Social Work at Hunter College is committed to preparing its students for practice and research across this dynamic, growing array of professional environments, approaches, and specializations. Silberman students gain comprehensive knowledge and practice capability in one of three dedicated methods; develop specialized understanding and experience in a field of practice specialization; benefit from rich professional development resources within the School and College community, alongside the support of highly accomplished faculty; and learn amid an abiding, School-wide culture committed to social justice inside and outside the classroom.

The Silberman School of Social Work is also committed to ensuring that students are prepared to take and pass the Licensed Master Social Worker (LMSW) licensure exam, administered by the Association of Social Work Boards (ASWB). Licensure is the national standard for practicing social workers. The School's Licensure Central initiative is a digital gateway that provides students with resources, materials, information, and practical steps to help them become licensed LMSWs. It is available through the Hunter Blackboard portal. The School's Department of Continuing Education, additionally, offers courses for alumni and others dedicated to licensure preparation.

These characteristics, among many, define the professional preparation and competitive edge that Silberman School of Social Work students bring into their entire careers.

Program Description
The Silberman School of Social Work at Hunter College launched its Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) Program in Fall 2016. The BSW Program is open to matriculated Hunter College students with a credit range of 55 - 80 credits. The program offers students the opportunity to link theory and practice by participating in a robust curriculum and established field placements. Students learn the core skills of assessment, engagement, intervention, advocacy, and documentation through a generalist practice lens. The BSW Program will prepare undergraduate students to become knowledgeable, caring front line workers in areas of Child Welfare and Care Coordination; and it will prepare them to enter Master of Social Work (MSW) programs with advanced standing in the future. More details about the BSW Program can be found here.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student’s matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three “STEM variant” science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.*

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.*

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS/DEGREES TRANSFERRED	CREDITS/REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	12
30 or more, without an AA/AS degree	9
AA/AS degree	6

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Admissions Requirements

Applications are completely online.

1. Students are admitted in the fall only.
2. Students must be full-time, matriculated students at Hunter.
3. Students will be considered for admission if they have between 55 and 80 credits and an overall GPA of at least 2.75.
4. Students must have taken and received a grade of B or better, in the Introduction to Social Work course SW 20100. PSYCH 10000 or SOC 10100 are the prerequisite courses to register for the Introduction to Social Work course SW 20100. Transfer students must apply to Hunter College and be accepted as a Liberal Arts student in the previous fall from the semester they are applying to the BSW program. Human Services majors with associate degrees may be required to take the Introduction to Social Work course SW 20100 at Hunter College to complete the BSW application requirements if they do not apply to Hunter College in the previous fall from the semester they are applying.
5. Transfer students with an associate degree, who graduated from a Human Services program, and received credit from Hunter for a Human Services course as the equivalent to the BSW prerequisite, Introduction to Social Work course may still be required to take the Introduction to Social Work course SW 20100, if the course they transferred in did not include at minimum, a required 32-hour, supervised, volunteer social services assignment.

Note: BMCC Human Service program graduates, who have been accepted to Hunter as full-time students are not required to register for the Introduction to Social Work course SW 20100

Attendance Requirements

BSW program is a full time program. All courses and field work are offered only during the day. Students must attend on a full-time basis. Courses are offered sequentially by semester, and must be taken in order.

- All BSW classes, except for the Introduction to Social Work course, SW 20100, are held at the Silberman School of Social Work.

Grading Policy

BSW students will receive a letter grade for course work. A minimum overall GPA of 3.0 is expected to remain in good academic standing. Students who do not pass a continuing course - offered over two semesters, sequentially - will not be allowed to repeat the course until it is offered again in the curriculum sequence. Students will be allowed to repeat a course only one time.

Accreditation

The Silberman School of Social Work Bachelor in Social Work degree is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE).

Sociology Department

Overview

Sociology is a multi-faceted discipline represented at Hunter College by a range of scholars who use diverse methods from field research to quantitative analysis and theoretical inquiry. Precisely because sociology is a broad-based discipline that encompasses theory, methods of observation, and research, sociology is both practically useful in analyzing contemporary issues and academically fascinating. The study of sociology also meets four important goals of Hunter College overall: acquisition of conceptual and analytic skills, development of intellectual and personal growth, widening students’ outlook by understanding U.S. as well as global culture and values, and generating new knowledge to address local and international needs and issues. A major in sociology provides the undergraduate with the opportunity to gain a distinct intellectual perspective and a method of inquiry. By continually testing conventional wisdom against evidence, the study of sociology encourages the development of critical judgment. By routinely considering the matrix of social and cultural facts, such study can lead students to an understanding of the conditions under which social facts emerge, and the consequences they have for individuals, groups, societies and social institutions. It can also help students better understand their own roles in the array of social institutions in which they are entwined.

What can I do with my degree in Sociology?

Our courses provide a foundation for the student who desires to pursue advanced graduate studies in sociology leading to teaching positions. The department offers a wide range of specialties offering students flexibility in their choice of PhD programs. A major in sociology also helps to prepare students for many careers: social research, marketing, media, and other fields in the private sectors, as well as law, civil service and public policy, social work, the health professions, personnel work and other human-service areas. Majors are encouraged to develop skills in observation, interviewing, and other data-collection techniques; data processing; statistical and content analysis; and trend analysis — all marketable skills in many career lines.

Honors

In order to graduate with departmental honors in sociology, students must have a 3.0 GPA overall and a 3.5 GPA in sociology; at least 21 of the credits toward the major should have been courses taken at Hunter College.
Students must complete either an Honors Seminar

- SOC 47300 - Honors Seminar

or an Honors Independent Study

- SOC 47100/SOC 47200 - Honors/Independent Study

or

- SOC 42500 - Seminar in Selected Problems of Sociology

Learning Outcomes: Sociology BA

1. Understand and apply basic concepts in sociology such as power culture the sociological imagination social change socialization stratification social structure and social institutions and the theoretical perspectives used to understand them.
2. Identify and analyze the influences of social structure on individuals and groups (based on age religion gender and sexuality race and ethnicity class and economic inequality) and the effects of individual thought and behavior on society.
3. Understand and apply the scientific method in order to appropriately design conduct collect and analyze qualitative and quantitative social scientific data.
4. Identify analyze and critique sociological arguments in research papers and monographs and be able to discuss their primary claims strengths and weaknesses.
5. Construct a sociological argument orally and in writing.

Degree Maps

Additional Information

Students whose GPAs are within this range are urged to consult their adviser before planning senior year programs of study, since honors seminars are generally offered only once per year, usually in the fall semester. In addition, students qualifying for departmental honors are eligible for membership in Alpha Kappa Delta, the International Sociology Honor Society. See adviser for more information.

Internships

Provided students secure approval of a full-time faculty member, internships can be carried out for 3 to 6 credits in the areas of marketing, media, and politics, with other areas provided faculty supervision can be secured. Interested students must meet the requirements listed under the SOC 49800 entry.

Program Description

Sociology is a fascinating field that can help you understand the people, groups, organizations, and institutions that make up the social world. A major in sociology provides undergraduates with sociological training, which is an excellent basis for careers in social work, social research, business, law, and public administration. By continually testing conventional wisdom against empirical evidence, the study of sociology leads students to an understanding of the conditions under which social facts emerge, and the consequences they have for individuals, groups, societies, and social institutions. Majors are encouraged to develop skills in observation, interviewing, and other data collection techniques, data processing, statistical and content analysis, and forecasting the future – all marketable skills in many career lines.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.

- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.*

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.*

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS/DEGREES TRANSFERRED	CREDITS/REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	12
30 or more, without an AA/AS degree	9
AA/AS degree	6

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Independent Study

These options allow students to initiate and carry out a course of study of their own choosing under the guidance of a full-time faculty sponsor. Students must have a written proposal and a general plan of study to submit to the potential faculty mentor.

Students may pursue independent study through

- SOC 37101 - Independent Study
- SOC 37200 - Independent Study
- -or-
- SOC 47100 - Honors/Independent Study
- SOC 47200 - Honors/Independent Study

Honors

In order to graduate with departmental honors in sociology, students must have a 3.0 GPA overall and a 3.5 GPA in sociology; at least 21 of the credits toward the major should have been courses taken at Hunter College.

Students must complete either an Honors Seminar

- SOC 47300 - Honors Seminar

or an Honors Independent Study

- SOC 47100 - Honors/Independent Study or
- SOC 47200 - Honors/Independent Study

or a graduate course

- SOC 42500 - Seminar in Selected Problems of Sociology

Additional Information

Students whose GPAs are within this range are urged to consult their adviser before planning senior year programs of study, since honors seminars are generally offered only once per year, usually in the fall semester. In addition, students qualifying for departmental honors are eligible for membership in Alpha Kappa Delta, the International Sociology Honor Society. See adviser for more information.

Internships

Provided students secure approval of a full-time faculty member, internships can be carried out for 3 credits with faculty supervision. Interested students must meet the requirements listed under the SOC 49800 entry.

Program Description

For a limited number of qualified undergraduate students, the Sociology department offers an accelerated five-year program leading to a BA in sociology and an MS in applied digital sociology. The program requires a total of 130 credits of college work (100 undergraduate, 30 graduate). To get the maximum financial benefit from the BA/MS program, students should apply before the number of cumulative credits taken (including those being taken currently) exceeds 100 credits. All credits above 120 will be charged at the graduate tuition rates.

In order to be admitted to the program, students must complete their basic requirements, including their major, pass an honors course or its equivalent (cross listed graduate course, honors independent study), have an overall GPA of 3.25 and meet other requirements of the MS program. BA/MS applicants should have no more than 100 credits completed before entering the program and can apply for fall or spring admission. After consulting with the undergraduate adviser to establish eligibility, students may apply to the Graduate Director. Applications require a cover letter/personal statement and include a copy of one's current transcript and two letters of recommendation.

Students are admitted to the BA/MS program at the end of their junior year but must consult with the undergraduate advisor before they file the application.

Additional Comments:
Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.*

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.*

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS/DEGREES TRANSFERRED	CREDITS/REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	12
30 or more, without an AA/AS degree	9
AA/AS degree	6

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

SOC 33500 - War and Society (3 cr)

General

Course Title
War and Society

Catalog Description
This course will examine the experience of war in its historical and contemporary significance. This course will examine war as a social phenomenon, emphasizing its impact on the battle front and the home front, on direct participants (combatants) and on those who are affected indirectly (civilians). We will examine the changing forms of warfare with the invention of increasingly destructive weapons; the impact on civilian communities as targets of war; the organization of the military as an institution (including recent debates about the racial and gender integration of the military and the All Volunteer Force).

SOC 42538 - Data Mining and Social Sciences (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Data Mining and Social Sciences

Catalog Description
A tremendous amount of data is now being generated and collected through digital technology such as mobile phones, websites, and other electronic devices. How can social scientists take advantage of these digital trace data to answer pressing social questions? This winter course introduces students to basic concepts and methods in computational social science. It aims to show students new ways of thinking about data, conducting social analysis, and examining social phenomena through the lens of computational social science. Students will learn techniques such as web scraping, conducting automated text analyses, and incorporating machine learning into their research projects. By the end of the course, students will be able to conduct research using R programming language to analyze big data.

Special Education Department

Overview

Hunter's graduate programs in the Department of Special Education prepare professionals to effectively support individuals with disabilities and/or gifts and talents and their families. Depending on the program, students are prepared to be special and general educators, early interventionists, applied behavior analysts, and/or gifted educators. These professionals work across a variety of settings, including schools, homes, clinics, hospitals, and the community, spanning the prenatal to adult age range. Special and gifted education programs at Hunter College have been nationally recognized by the Council for Exceptional Children. The Applied Behavior Analysis program is in the process of applying for accreditation by the Association for Behavior Analysis International.

The School of Education offers master's degree and advanced certificate programs in special education, applied behavior analysis, and gifted education that lead to New York State certification or licensure to practice within the particular program area. For a full list of programs please review the School of Education program listing.

The programs within the Department of Special Education are organized according to specialized professional areas of expertise. Some programs share core courses. Specializations provide in-depth preparation for working with individuals based on age, learning and developmental characteristics, and approach. Every program has the common goal of rigorously preparing professionals to effectively practice in ways so individuals with disabilities and/or gifts and talents and their families have the same opportunities as others to live, learn, and thrive in meeting their goals. A hallmark of Hunter's programs is their linking of theory to effective practice.

SPED 30800 - Teaching Students with Disabilities in Inclusive Classrooms (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Teaching Students with Disabilities in Inclusive Classrooms

Catalog Description
Participants will explore the benefits and challenges of creating and maintaining classrooms designed to incorporate students with disabilities in the general education environment for part, or all, of their program. Educating students who have learning disabilities, behavior disorders, and mild retardation will be our primary focus -- though we will also inevitably address issues related to individuals with other disabilities. The course will examine educational theories and historical practices that have led to an increased emphasis on “collaborative education” to serve students with disabilities. We will pay particular attention to the role of special educators in collaborative programs, including aspects of curriculum, instructional adaptations and modifications, classroom management, interpersonal and “inter-professional” relationships. Above all, the course aims to equip all educators with practical strategies for a flexible approach towards teaching and working within diverse educational structures for students with special needs. Though classroom environments may vary, it is imperative that all educators continue to design and implement specialized instruction when appropriate.

Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology Department

Overview

The Master of Science (MS) degree in Speech-Language Pathology is 68 credits and prepares students for professional practice in hospitals, healthcare agencies, general and specialized clinical settings, and private practices. Successful completion of the SLP curriculum prepares students to meet the academic and clinical requirements to apply for American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA) professional certification and New York State Licensure.

Theatre Department

Overview

The Department of Theatre offers students the opportunity to study all aspects of the art form: the making, history, and theory of theatre and drama. Theatre courses include acting, playwriting, directing, design, history, theory, puppetry, interdisciplinary performance and more. The curriculum was developed with an emphasis on professional standards within a liberal arts context. Majors are involved in practical, hands-on production work.

What can I do with my degree in Theatre?

Many students who graduate from the program work as actors, directors, stage managers, technicians, designers and producers. Some of our students continue their creative study in conservatory or MFA programs. Others continue their study in history and theory as MA or PhD students. Graduates who concentrate in developmental drama frequently enter the field as teachers and directors of theatre in education.

Program Description

Undergraduate students study stage production and the relationship between text and performance. The major requires courses in practical hands-on work as well as the study of theoretical, critical and historical approaches to theatre in order to give students an understanding of all aspects of the art form.

Courses include acting, playwriting, directing, history, theory, design, production, puppetry, dramaturgy and more. Undergraduates may take graduate courses with special permission. Many students who graduate from the program work as actors, directors, stage managers, and designers. Some of our students continue their creative study in conservatory or MFA programs. Others continue their study in history and theory as MA or PhD students.

The department maintains associations with major theatre institutions. Students have the opportunity for placement as interns and apprentices with various professional groups. Students pursuing a major in theatre must work on theatre productions as part of their requirements for graduation."

Additional Comments:
Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

For students who matriculated prior to fall 2019, these three credits are waived.*

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.*

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS/DEGREES TRANSFERRED	CREDITS/REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	12
30 or more, without an AA/AS degree	9
AA/AS degree	6

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS TRANSFERRED	COURSES REQUIRED
Fewer than 31	4
31 or more	2

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can only satisfy one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Writing Intensive

Type
Completion Requirement

Complete at least 1 course in the following course sets:

- Writing Intensive

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least one Writing Intensive course, designated with a “W” in the catalog, at Hunter College. The number of Writing Intensive courses required is determined by the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS TRANSFERRED	"W" COURSES REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	3
31-59	2
60 or more	1

THEA 28300 - Stagecraft (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Stagecraft

Catalog Description
This course provides an introduction to the core principles and practices of technical theatre for the undergraduate theatre major. Students will gain foundational knowledge and hands-on experience in areas such as theatrical safety, scenery construction, rigging, properties, and scenic painting. The course emphasizes both the theoretical and practical aspects of backstage work, preparing students to be effective and safe collaborators in the production process. Students will apply skills learned in class to required work in department productions.

THEA 35300 - Storytelling and Contemporary Culture (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Storytelling and Contemporary Culture

Catalog Description
In this course, we will examine the ways that theatre intersects with contemporary popular storytelling. In each unit of this class, we'll learn about a different dramaturgical framework that originates in the theatre. We'll read a play that exemplifies that framework, and will look at works of contemporary storytelling (in film, television, stand-up comedy, etc.) through that analytical lens. The goal of this class is to understand the ways that stories are built and examine the ways in which dramaturgical structures originating in the theater intersect with the most popular storytelling of our time.

THEA 39000 - Costume, Fashion, and Cultural Studies (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Costume, Fashion, and Cultural Studies

Catalog Description
This course enables students to understand fashion and costume (clothes worn by people) using the lens of cultural studies. The course will take students on a journey of non-Western clothing alongside Euro-Western clothing and under major critical movements and concepts such as cultural studies, Orientalism, post-coloniality, subalternity, pan-Africanism, feminism and gender, material culture, thing theory, visual dramaturgy, to reveal how clothes and costumes are shaped by such forces. Readings in theatre and performance, anthropology, sociology, film and media, history (and microhistories such as fashion history and theatre history) and other areas will help students develop an understanding of the global aesthetics of the body on stage, on screen and on the street.

THEA 39729 - Unlocking the Performance (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Unlocking the Performance

Catalog Description
In this course students will learn to watch performances through the lens of an Actor. How can two actors say the exact same words and have a vastly different effects on the story? Through learning basic acting techniques students will discover the wide array of possibilities available to actors, and learn to watch plays and films from an actor’s point of view.We will examine Film adaptations and recordings of live Theatre, comparing the work of actors such as Denzel Washington and James Earl Jones in August Wilson's Fences, Claire Danes and Leonardo Dicaprio in Romeo + Juliet, Jessica Lange and Elizabeth Taylor in Tennessee Williams' Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, Ian McKellen and Patrick Stewart in Shakespeare's Macbeth, along with many others.

THEA 39748 - Dramuturgical Impulse:The Questioning Spirit (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Dramuturgical Impulse:The Questioning Spirit

Catalog Description
In this course the student will encounter the Dramaturgical Impulse or the investigation of the creative process in many forms leading to the idea of the questioning spirit not only for Dramaturgs but for all artists as well. In exploring and answering the questions above, the students will concentrate on the following topics: the origins of and a brief survey of the dramaturgical profession; the collaborative dramaturgical impulse; contemporary dramaturgical paradigms; the dramaturg and the artist's questioning spirit and the creative process; new play dramaturgy and diverse approaches to the creation of stage texts; research as a creative tool and the conducting of dramaturgical research; the creation of a production casebook; the documentation of the artistic process on a production; the reading, analysis and evaluation of new plays for the stage; and contemporary new play issues and dramaturgical challenges. But while the students will explore these questions in a theatrical context they will also investigate generative and narrative impulses vital to creative explorations of other art forms and disciplines as well offering alternative ways of looking at the artistic creative process.

THEA 39749 - Directing: Site Specific (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Directing: Site Specific

Catalog Description
This class focuses on introducing students to methods for creating site-specific performance work. Students will examine the process of transforming an audience's relationship to live performance by presenting work outside the confines of the traditional theater space. We will investigate how architecture evokes narrative by devising site-specific performances informed by the found space of public and private urban environments. Over the course of the semester, all students will perform and direct. Directors will scout performance locations and collaboratively devise original works in groups and directing pairs. Performances will be birthed from visual art images, found text, historical research and original compositions inspired by the architecture discovered. Students will explore how a performance site can inform tone, actor/audience relationship, space, time, sound, composition, and scale as they move their work through various locations and make adjustments to changing environments. The class explores the inherent challenges of impermanence, chance encounter, shared public space, changing weather conditions/seasons, time of day, legality, permitting, foot traffic, population and accessibility. Directors provide feedback by using the Liz Lerman Critical Response Process and by creating a body of work together reflecting the aesthetic vocabulary generated by the group throughout the semester. In addition to their practical work, students will present research on a number of companies whose work lies within the tradition of site-specificity, spontaneous performance, political theater/direct action, guerilla performance and street theater of the 20th and 21st century. The class culminates in a final site-specific performance open to the public.

Urban Policy and Planning Department

Overview

Since its creation by advocacy planner Paul Davidoff in 1965, the Urban Policy and Planning Department has consistently upheld a vision of urban planning as a multi-disciplinary field. As component of the department, the Urban Studies undergraduate major gives students an understanding of contemporary cities economically, socially, politically and physically. Urban studies provides answers to questions about why America is car dependent, New York housing is expensive, the number 6 train is always late and crowded, or how you can make your neighborhood better. .

Going beyond the walls of Hunter, the major provides field-work courses: an internship which gives job experience and a studio class, which take students into a neighborhood to solve urban problems such as the increase of clubs and noise pollution on the Lower East Side, street vending along busy streets in Jackson Heights, or lack of park space in East Harlem.

In keeping with this vision of the major, the urban studies faculty represents a wide range of disciplines including architecture, economics, history, political science, public policy, sociology, social work and urban planning. The program also benefits greatly from a distinguished part-time faculty who bring practical experience and knowledge in both public and non-profit sectors into the classroom.

What can I do with my degree in Urban Studies?

Individuals with a bachelor's degree in urban studies have found work at real estate development firms, community non-profits, local government or social service agencies. Many urban studies majors go to graduate school, most often in urban planning. Others have pursued advanced degrees in law, social work and public administration. The range of graduate school choice reflects the flexibility of the urban studies curriculum and its focus on a myriad of issues from a variety of perspectives. Urban studies graduates have completed Master's degrees at Harvard, Cornell, MIT, Rutgers, and other prestigious universities across the country.

Honors

Overall GPA: 3.2 and above. Major GPA: 3.5 and above.

Internships

The Public Service Scholar Program seeks to improve our cities and the lives of people by preparing talented students particularly women, minorities and immigrants for public service careers through internships with elected officials, government, and nonprofit organizations. The program runs for a full academic year and combines internship placements in the offices of senior officials and administrators with intensive seminars on public policy issues, social change, government and nonprofit organizations. The program is open to any Hunter College student, regardless of major, who has a minimum 3.0 GPA and who is within 45 credits of graduation at the beginning of the program in the fall semester. Admission of up to 24 students is competitive. Applications are accepted starting in November with a deadline of March 15th. Students accepted as Public Service Scholars receive 12 academic credits and a $6,000 stipend. Because women, minorities and immigrants have been traditionally underrepresented in public policy making and leadership positions, special efforts are taken to encourage them to apply for the program. Interested students should contact the Public Service Scholar Program, Room 1643 Hunter West, (212) 772-5599 or email pssp@hunter.cuny.edu.

Urban Studies B.A. Program Learning Outcomes

After completing this major, students will be able to:
Demonstrate complex analytical and problem-solving capabilities, drawing on multiple disciplines
Demonstrate familiarity with the range and complexity of current urban issues
Clearly explain complex material using multiple formats (written, visual, oral)
Incorporate multiple perspectives, interpretations, and considerations of fairness, equity, and justice into problem-solving

ARTML-CERT - Arts Management and Leadership

General

HEGIS Code
1099.00

CIP Code
50.0799

Program Description

The Arts Management and Leadership (AML) certificate draws on current strengths within existing departments and utilizes existing courses, relying on the research and creative interests of associated faculty to provide a compelling basis for study of the burgeoning field of arts management and leadership. The program serves students interested in careers in both the visual and the performing arts, and focuses on entrepreneurial, for-profit and non-profit arts organizations as well as on established cultural institutions. This certificate program is designed to make undergraduate students at Hunter aware of employment opportunities offered by the arts organizations of New York and to help them prepare for both entry-level jobs and satisfying long-term careers in arts management. This plan focuses on the skills and knowledge needed to make arts organizations effective. Students will learn how artists and other professionals in cultural organizations face and solve problems of marketing, regulation, audience development and sustainability, as well as many other complex difficulties faced by arts leaders and managers.

Program Outcomes

By the end of this program, students will be able to demonstrate understanding of:

- how creators, entrepreneurs, advocates, policy makers, and others fit into a broad system of financing, management, marketing, and regulation
- how new opportunities for artist and audience connections are forged
- the workings of non-profit organizations, such as museums, orchestras, and community theaters
- the likely long-term success of an arts organization in terms of its artistic qualities, its managerial strength, the depth of its support, and the likely strength of its market position
- the financing of arts and media projects, including entrepreneurial endeavors that students might create or on which they might collaborate.

- URBS 20300 - Introduction to Arts Management
- BUS 22500 - Survey of Accounting
- MEDPL 35100 - Strategic Communication and Marketing for the Arts
- BUS 23000 - Essentials of Business Law
- URBS 40900 - Urban Std:Internship

The AML certificate is a 15-credit program. It is taken in concurrence with any undergraduate major at Hunter College.

Courses Required for the Certificate

Prerequisites of required courses will be waived by the department offering the course for students pursuing the certificate. Students may apply 6 credits from the certificate program towards other programs. Students who are majoring in Accounting may replace the BUS 22500 and BUS 23000 requirements with ACC28000 Business Law I and ACCP37400 Managerial Accounting.

ACC 28000 and ACCP 37400 can be used for both the Accounting-BS and the Arts Management certificate.

The certificate program in Arts Management and Leadership includes four 3-credit courses, plus a 3-credit internship with a mentored capstone project, for a total of 15 credits. Students must maintain a 2.5 GPA in required courses to receive this certificate.

Theory and practice of effective strategic communications and marketing for non-profit arts organizations and art and media businesses. Students learn techniques for formal and creative industry-leading techniques for maximizing exposure for a cause or brand through public relations, social media and digital media storytelling tools. Students will create a fictional organization around which they will build a cohesive media strategy, utilizing cutting-edge tools and best practices to develop long-term media strategy, breaking news, crisis communications and brand elevation. Students will be positioned to become a one-stop shop for leading strategic media engagement and staying above the fray in a quickly evolving landscape.

Additional Comments:
Students may take no more than two courses from one department or program to fulfill categories Common Core.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

CREDITS OF FOREIGN LANGUAGE NEEDED	CREDITS OF CONCENTRATED STUDY NEEDED
0	12

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.*

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS/DEGREES TRANSFERRED	CREDITS/REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	12
30 or more, without an AA/AS degree	9
AA/AS degree	6

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS TRANSFERRED	COURSES REQUIRED
Fewer than 31	4
31 or more	2

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can only satisfy one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Writing Intensive

Type
Completion Requirement

Complete at least 1 course in the following course sets:

- Writing Intensive

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least one Writing Intensive course, designated with a “W” in the catalog, at Hunter College. The number of Writing Intensive courses required is determined by the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS TRANSFERRED	"W" COURSES REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	3
31-59	2
60 or more	1

Note: Specific sections of courses containing significant writing are listed with a W designation in the Schedule of Classes. Please note that not all sections of a course are necessarily offered with significant writing. To satisfy the Writing Requirement a section designated as W in the Schedule of Classes must be taken.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Major Requirements - Overall

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 30 credits
Urban studies majors must complete 30 credits of courses that provide a rigorous background that will make students competitive job seekers or graduate school applicants. The core includes an introductory course as well as classes about the city’s physical structure, public polices and research methods, both qualitative and quantitative. The urban studies core provides a foundation for more advanced courses. In addition to the core and advanced courses, the major requires an internship, elective courses, and interdisciplinary set of classes from several social science disciplines, e.g., political science, history, and economics.

Major Requirement - Required Courses

Type
Completion Requirement

General

Course Title
Introduction to Arts Management

Catalog Description
In this course, we will explore the state of the art communities in the contemporary United States, discover how we arrived at the kinds of organizations in which much art is typically produced today, and learn the basic principles of arts management. We will also take advantage our location in New York City—a world capital for careers in the arts—to learn about arts management from leaders who have built careers at some of the nation's most respected arts and cultural organizations.

Women and Gender Studies Department

Overview

Women's Studies at Hunter was established in 1975 in response to the women's movement of the sixties, which asked that higher education integrate the study of women and gender into the curriculum. Our classes focus on the critical examination of gender, class, race, dis/ability, sexuality, and nationality as intersecting dynamics of social and identity formation. Through our own and cross-listed courses, our students are able to explore topics such as Bathroom Politics; Women and Film; Gender, Sexuality and History; Masculinities; Gender and Human Rights; Gender and Migration, and Transnational Feminism.

Our mission is to:

- Educate students about the principles, theories, and concrete applications of these critical analyses.
- Encourage students to examine the complex ways in which the social formations of sexuality, gender, race, class, national origin, dis/ability, and sexual orientation shape human experience and produce structures of power and inequality.

- Re-examine in curriculum and scholarship the historical record to make visible the experiences and contributions of disenfranchised groups across historical and social locations.
- Connect academic work with social and political realities outside the university; enhance students' understanding of and resistance to structures of inequalities; and link research, teaching/learning, and activism.

Our faculty is an interdisciplinary group of scholars whose research, teaching and advocacy work focuses on the relationships between these forces, drawing from women, gender, and feminist studies; ethnic and critical race studies; LGBT and queer studies; disabilities studies; as well as the study of nationalism and class.

What can I do with a Women and Gender Studies Major?

Through the interdisciplinary study of gender and its relation to other identity markers such as race, class, ethnicity, sexuality, nation, and religion, Hunter College builds a foundation for its Women and Gender Studies majors to move on to professional work in government, public service, research, and education. Our majors also have an academic background that makes them ideal candidates for pursuing professional degrees and graduate studies in a variety of fields, including social work, policy, health, and law.

Learning Outcomes: Women and Gender Studies BA

1. Describe the contributions of disenfranchised groups across historical and social locations.
2. Use gender class race disability sexuality and nationality as central and intersecting categories of analysis.
3. Conduct interdisciplinary research using critical gender class race and sexuality theories and intersectional modes of inquiry.
4. Access, critically evaluate, and communicate information–including media sources–effectively through writing and oral presentations.
5. Connect academic work with social and political realities outside the college.
6. Apply social justice principles and ethics to their own lives and their engagement with surrounding communities.

Program Description

A major in Women and Gender Studies (WGS) trains students to explore gender and its relation to other identity markers such as race, class, ethnicity, sexuality, nation, and religion. By learning and applying intersectional feminist analysis, WGS majors study processes of social and identity formation; how they shape the human experience, and how they produce structures of power and domination. Throughout a rigorous interdisciplinary course of study, WGS majors are expected not only to re-examine the historical record to make visible the experiences of disenfranchised groups but also connect feminist theories to current and concrete social and political contexts.

Honors

In order to graduate with honors in Women and Gender Studies, a student must have a 3.5 GPA in the Women and Gender Studies major and a college-wide cumulative index of at least 3.0. Students should submit a 18-20 page paper written for any Women and Gender Studies 300 level class including but not limited to the Research Seminar (WGS31000 Sem:Fem Theory & Meth). The student must submit the paper by March 30 (for June graduation) and October 30 (for December graduation) to be considered for program honors. A faculty committee will read submitted papers and determine whether they merit honors.

Transfer Students

- Transfer students who have earned an AA/AS degree from an accredited institution, including CUNY, and who matriculated in fall 2013 and after will have fulfilled the Common Core.
- For all other CUNY transfer students, any unmet Common Core requirements must be completed while matriculated at Hunter.
- Non-CUNY transfer students without an AA/AS degree should confer with their adviser to determine whether they have met CCC requirements.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - College Option/Hunter Focus

Type
Completion Requirement

Earn at least 12 credits
The Hunter Focus consists of 12 credits total. The composition of these credits will vary depending on the student's matriculation status and language proficiency. All students are required to complete the Foreign Language requirement; after that is met, students begin Concentrated Study.

Exceptions:

- Students in the School of Nursing may fulfill their entire 12 credits of Hunter Focus by taking three "STEM variant" science courses in addition to the STEM courses used to fulfill the Common Core.
- Students with a joint major in Education may fulfill their entire 12 credits with courses in Education.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Students must attain fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. For students with no prior language courses, this proficiency typically consists of completing four courses or a total of 12 credits. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser. Students may apply only one course at each level (Elementary level 1, Elementary level 2, Intermediate level 3, and Intermediate level 4) toward the Hunter Focus. Intensive courses can be used to satisfy the two-course sequence at the Elementary and at the Intermediate levels.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the 12 required for the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study. Concentrated Study refers to courses that fulfill requirements for a declared minor, a second major or a certificate. The number of credits required for Concentrated Study ranges from 0-12 and is determined by the number of credits in a foreign language a student must take.

CREDITS OF FOREIGN LANGUAGE NEEDED	CREDITS OF CONCENTRATED STUDY NEEDED
0	12

For students who matriculated in fall 2019 or after, and who do not also complete a second major, minor, or certificate program, these three credits shall be from a course, at the 200-level or above, on a topic related to the language used for the Foreign Language requirement, in the target language or in English translation.*

Transfer Students

All transfer students must complete the Hunter Focus. For students who first matriculated in an associate program, the number of credits required in the Hunter Focus varies with the number of credits transferred.

CREDITS/DEGREES TRANSFERRED	CREDITS/REQUIRED
Fewer than 30	12
30 or more, without an AA/AS degree	9
AA/AS degree	6

Students who first matriculate in a baccalaureate program must complete 12 credits of Hunter Focus. Any "College Option" credits completed at another CUNY senior college will be applied to the Hunter Focus.

Hunter Focus: Foreign Language

Transfer students must reach or work toward fourth-semester proficiency in a foreign language. The number of credits needed to complete the Foreign Language requirement is determined by the student's transfer status, as defined above, and language proficiency at the time of matriculation. Students who have prior language courses, including those from high school, should consult an adviser.

Hunter Focus: Concentrated Study

Once transfer students have completed the Foreign Language requirement, any credits remaining from the Hunter Focus will be used on Concentrated Study as described above.

2nd Degree Students

- Students who have earned a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution are exempt from the General Education requirements

Degree Requirements - Pluralism and Diversity

Type
Completion Requirement

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:
- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group A

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America or those indigenous to the Americas.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group B

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, immigrant experiences and/or intellectual traditions of one or more of the following groups in the United States of America: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans and Native Americans.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group C

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation.

AND

Earn at least 3 credits from the following:

- Pluralism and Diversity Requirement – Group D

A course focusing on scholarship about major practical or theoretical issues (e.g., artistic, economic, geographic, literary, political, scientific or social) that emerge from, are reflected in or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives and/or intellectual traditions of Europe, including the ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Additional Comments:
Students must complete four courses designated for the Pluralism and Diversity Requirement, one from each of four categories. The four categories of Pluralism and Diversity focus on major practical or theoretical issues that emerge from, are reflected in, or are principally derived from the historical conditions, perspectives, and/or intellectual traditions of the following:

A. Non-European societies, particularly those of Africa, Asia, Latin America, or those indigenous to the Americas;

B. One or more of the following groups in the US: African Americans, Asian Americans, Latino Americans, and Native Americans;

C. Women and/or issues of gender or sexual orientation;

D. Europe, including ways in which pluralism and diversity have been addressed.

Any one course with a Pluralism and Diversity designation can satisfy only one Pluralism and Diversity category but may also fulfill any other requirement.

Transfer Students

Transfer students must take at least two courses designated for different categories of the Pluralism and Diversity requirement. The number of courses required in Pluralism and Diversity is determined by the number of credits transferred.

Course Title
Family & Household in Anthropology & History

Catalog Description
The anthropology of complex societies has shown the domestic group to be highly significant in numerous dimensions of social life, from the division of labor to religious practice. Thus, variations in domestic arrangements and relations, whether over time or between groups, provide useful insight into broader apsects of society and culture. This course surveys domestic variations and attempts to explain them. Special attention is paid to the role of gender and contemporary efforts to redefine the very notion of kinship, especially as embodied in debates over same sex marriage and gay/lesbian families.

WGS 10000 - Introduction to Gender and Sexuality Studies (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Introduction to Gender and Sexuality Studies

Catalog Description
The course will introduce students to the political and theoretical debates in the discipline of gender and sexuality. We will cover historical struggles for the women's enfranchisement, the abolitionist movements, sex wars, and the queer rights movement. The course introduces students to feminist contribution to the debate that considers sex as biology and gender as culture, critical race theory, and queer theory. In addition, the course will also deal with structural and institutional forms of disenfranchisement by examining the relationship between gender and the state, colonialism, law and capital.

WGS 12100 - Public Speaking in Gender Studies (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Public Speaking in Gender Studies

Catalog Description
This course is designed to cultivate and improve students' public speaking skills, for use in the classroom and in broader public spheres. To do so, we will engage with materials in critical identity studies (primarily on class, race, gender, and sexuality), which generate complex debates and afford fruitful opportunities to refine oratory skills.

WGS 28700 - Masculinities (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Masculinities

Catalog Description
The aim of this course is for students to develop and understanding how knowledge about masculinities changes the way we see most areas of scholarship and daily life. This course engages scholarship on masculinities from the interdisciplinary study of sex and gender systems drawing on feminist literature; we will also study a variety of present day men's movements and understand how they relate to feminist movements.

WGSA 29004 - Shirtwaist Factory (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Shirtwaist Factory

Catalog Description
This course examines the Triangle Factory Fire of March 25, 1911 from multiple interdisciplinary perspectives, in the context of early twenty-century social history, and through the theoretical lens of intersectionality (race, class and gender). Students will investigate how the memory and significance of the fire have reverberated nationally and internationally in politics and culture for over a century. In addition to studying the Cornell University labor archives, and the Remember the Triangle Factory Fire Coalition archives, students will study representation of the fire in literary forms such as theater, performance pieces, poetry, interviews, family memoirs, and lyrics; as well as in documentaries, art exhibits, and other cultural products, including the annual commemoration of the fire in New York City.

WGSA 30005 - Sex, Gender, and Politics in the American Horror Film (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Sex, Gender, and Politics in the American Horror Film

Catalog Description
What makes something a horror film? Why are some horror films remade and others not? How have horror films changed over the years, and what common threads run through them? And what are the sexual politics of horror films? This class will involve comparative, aesthetic, sociological, and political(-economic) analysis of horror films and television. We will work through a definition of what makes something 'horror' and how sex, sexual violence, and gender work within the genre. What are the common tropes of horror? What makes something scary? Horrifying? Horror films reflect and inform the popular imagination; so what do these films say about us? We will focus primarily on US films and television, though not exclusively. The course will involve brief overviews of various European and Asian films in order to provide a basis for comparison with US produced films and those that are most popular in the US. Viewing outside of class of remakes will be required as well in order to discuss the politics of remakes. SPECIAL NOTE: We do not want to discourage anyone from taking this class. However, the films we view in class and require you to watch outside of class will include violence, gore, nudity, sexualized violence, etc. Please, if you are at all concerned about the content of the films, reconsider taking this class. Many of these films are disturbing. Additionally, if you do not have access to Netflix or another way of viewing films outside of class, be sure that you can view the films somehow. This is absolutely required.

WGSA 31976 - Sensational and Reel: Women Writing the Fallen Woman (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Sensational and Reel: Women Writing the Fallen Woman

Catalog Description
Class will read four major novels by women writers of the nineteenth century, all of whom center their fictions on the topic of the "fallen woman." A major concern of the Victorian era, the "fallen woman" narrative is typically about adultery, infidelity and/or sexual relations outside of the prescribed contract of marriage. These narratives centralize a number of Victorian anxieties about morality, sexuality, gender, class, and propriety. This class will explore two wildly different modes of novel writing popular novels in Victorian era: the popular, "low culture" sensation novel of the 1860s and the more enduring, classic and "high culture" realist novel. We will look at how women writers carefully worked through the problems with sensitivity and empathy not found in male-authored "fallen woman" novels (of which we will read one for comparison's sake).

WGSC 29005 - Arab Women Making Arabic Culture (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Arab Women Making Arabic Culture

Catalog Description
How have Arab women contributed to Arabic popular culture, film, theatre, and literature? In this course, students examine diverse cultural works by Arab women to consider how they use creative expression to voice their perspectives on girls' lives, relationships between women and men, women's roles in families and society, and challenges to gender inequality. Across the semester students engage with Arabic cultural work by women – all in English – covering an array of genres, such as fiction, graphic novels, theatre, poetry, lyrics, or film. Engaging with these works, students elevate their style of writing about culture and experiment in creative genres. Students from any cultural background or gender are welcome.

WGSL 29004 - Special Topics: International Sex Tourism (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Special Topics: International Sex Tourism

Catalog Description
One of the results of globalization has been growing prevalence of international sex tourism, creating a diverse market for "exotic" sex. From Grand Tours to gay cruises, travel has provided a means for middle and upper class Europeans and North Americans to realize sexual fantasies that hinge on the racialization and exoticization of people in the Global South, while simultaneously generating new patterns of labor migration. In focusing on both individual encounters and broader patterns, this course will examine the intersections of race and sex, sex work as a form of labor, and how the pursuit of sex and work can move populations.

Community Leadership Seminar

Catalog Description
By exposing students to scholars, advocates, organizers, service providers and activists involved in welfare policy and anti-poverty work, the course critically engages the social welfare system and its impact on women, people of color, queer people, and the poor. The seminar develops the required skills for leaders, trainers and community organizers.

WGSS 26600 - Our Bodies, Our Politics (3 cr)

General

Course Title
Our Bodies, Our Politics

Catalog Description
Sex and sexuality are commonly understood as innate drives, but are better understood as a series of connected cultural practices. It is the constructed meaning attached to the act of sex that make up the foundation of our sexuality. This meaning changes across cultures and communities and historically has been a subject of political and legal struggle.

General

Course Title
Bathroom Politics

Catalog Description
In this course, we will study bathrooms in relation to a body of state policies mandating segregated public facilities and spaces, primarily around sex and race. We will examine the anxiety, fear of contamination, and threat of violence in such spaces as it is translated into public policy through regulations including municipal building codes, civil rights legislation, and court cases.
